Constructing your investment portfolio

You can build your own portfolio by investing in single asset investment options or use diversified investment options to suit your desired risk profile. We recommend that you consult a financial adviser to assist you in determining these.

One of the significant risks of investing is that your investment strategy doesn't reflect your financial goals. It's important to consider your investment timeframe, your investment goals and your risk tolerance.

Diversifying your investments helps manage market volatility and risk across your investment portfolio. Through Generation Life Investment Bonds you can diversify your portfolio in three ways.

1. Within each asset class

Our investment options invest in a range of underlying securities and assets within an asset class. This means that returns will be less dependent on the performance of a single security or asset. This diversification can help reduce the overall security or asset specific risk of your investment.

2. Investing in a range of asset classes

Spreading your investment exposure across different asset classes can help reduce the impact of volatility in returns. You can also spread your exposure across different markets and geographical regions.

3. Investing in different investment styles

Different fund managers have different investment styles and approaches which can perform differently depending on market conditions. Using a mix of investment managers in your portfolio can help smooth out performance volatility and reduce investment manager risk.

Your financial adviser can help you understand investment risk and design an investment strategy for you.

How are Generation Life's investment options structured?

Investment structure

When you invest in an investment option your money is combined with other investors that have selected the same investment option in a fund managed by us. All investment options (through their particular fund) invest in assets either directly (by holding the securities or assets through a mandate arrangement) or indirectly through an underlying managed fund or pooled arrangements that invests in asset classes in accordance with the investment option's guidelines.

What is a mandate?

A mandate is an agreement with an investment manager that sets out how the money is to be invested. The mandate may specify an appropriate benchmark, acceptable investments and investment ranges. A mandate structure means that the investments are managed separately on our behalf and are not pooled with the external investment manager's other investors or invested in one of the investment manager's wholesale investment schemes. Therefore, the performance of a mandate may differ from the underlying investment manager's wholesale investment scheme. However, using mandates gives us greater flexibility, including better management of tax outcomes.

Accessing the underlying investment assets

We may invest directly in the underlying investment assets or indirectly through managed investment schemes to gain exposure and administrative efficiencies.

Tax Optimised and Tax Enhanced options

All investment options are managed under the Generation Life Tax Aware management process with the aim of delivering a tax-efficient investment outcome. In the case of the Tax Enhanced and Tax Optimised series of investment options, further levels of tax optimisation are provided with the aim of delivering higher levels of tax efficiency and improved after-tax returns for the respective investment strategies.

You can find out more about our Tax Enhanced and Tax Optimised series of investment options in the 'Tax Aware investing' section of the Product Disclosure Statement.

Our investment selection process

Appointed investment managers are subject to initial and ongoing reviews. We regularly monitor and review our investment managers to ensure they continue to meet their stated objectives, performance expectations and our investment requirements.

In constructing and reviewing our appointed investment managers we consider a number of factors in our assessment which may include:

- the objectives of the investment strategy;
- the capabilities and experience of the investment manager;
- the investment manager's approach or investment style;
- the investment manager's investment processes;
- performance track record against the stated investment objective; and
- how risk is managed by the investment manager.

To ensure that we continue to offer a suitable range of investment options, we may change the investment options, including the investment objectives, strategies and investment managers at any time. We may from time-to-time add, remove, or replace investment options or investment managers, or change exposure weightings to the investment options. We may also close an investment option or cease to accept new contributions (including by switching) into any of the investment options.

We will notify affected investors of any material changes to the investment options as required by law. Updated information about our investment options, investment managers and investment strategies can be found on our website www.genlife.com.au

Responsible Investing

Generation Life offer responsible investing options to help you invest based on your values.

Responsible Investing is commonly used to describe a strategy or practice that considers Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) factors in the analysis, investment decisions and ownership of an investment. These factors can be known to at times to affect the risk and return of investments.

The strategies underpinning the Responsible Investing options are constructed with the objective of investing in companies and assets that improve long-term investor value while also taking a position to seek to improve outcomes for society.

Types of Responsible Investing approaches that may be used

Exclusionary (or negative screening) – excludes certain sectors, countries and securities from an investment universe where the activities do not align with investors or global standards.

Inclusionary (or positive screening) – proactively investing in sectors or companies that demonstrate ‘best in class’ environmental, social or governance practices.

Minimum standards screening – excluding investments that do not meet minimum standards or practices regarding environmental, social or governance practices.

Impact investing – targets investments with the objective of generating a positive social or environmental impact plus a level of financial return.

ESG integration – utilises ESG information together with financial analysis as part of the investment research and decision-making process.

Active ownership – the use of various resources (internal or external) to positively influence corporate behaviour on ESG-related issues. This can include advocacy efforts, engagement with corporate decision-makers and voting in support of good governance.

Sustainability – investing based specifically on addressing social or environmental challenges.

Responsible Investing managers

Generation Life offers Responsible Investing investment options managed by leading Australian and international fund managers.

The investment menu also provides a managed model portfolio option, where manager selection and asset allocation are undertaken by an independent investment consultant. This option provides a convenient way of accessing Responsible Investing strategies with a multi-manager approach designed to provide further diversification benefits.

Our approach to selecting Responsible Investing investment options

Generation Life's range of Responsible Investing investment options have been developed based on an approach of providing a diverse level of exposure to a number of Responsible Investing strategies. The underlying investment approach for each of the Responsible investing options offered vary from asset/strategy specific through to multi-asset/multi-strategy approaches.

Irrespective of the underlying strategies employed, the fundamental criteria of focusing on financial outcomes while considering the impact of the underlying investment on society must be demonstrated by the investment managers as part of our review and monitoring process.

In constructing and monitoring our menu of Responsible Investing investment options on an ongoing basis, a number of quantitative and qualitative factors are considered by Generation Life's investment team including:

- ESG ratings from external data and research providers;
- the level of integration of responsible investment principles into the investment manager's processes;
- the investment manager's capabilities;
- performance track record (against stated objectives); and
- other research undertaken by the team.

Importantly however, we do not assess or stipulate a particular approach to Responsible Investing, ESG factors or screens that investment managers may apply. Our Responsible investment options are designed to provide a varied choice of options to cater for investors with different social values and investment objectives. The overarching objective for the investment managers is to provide positive financial outcomes while considering ESG and other factors in the process.

Except for the determination of our sustainability range of investment options, we do not consider labour standards or environmental, social or ethical considerations in our investment decisions. However, we do have an overall policy of always acting legally, acting in the best interests of investors, and dealing with parties who, to the best of our knowledge, are reputable organisations. The investment managers may have their own policies on the extent to which labour standards, environmental, social or ethical considerations are considered in their investment processes.

DIVERSIFIED MULTI-SECTOR - CONSERVATIVE

MLC Horizon 2 Income Portfolio

Sector Diversified - conservative	Investment manager MLC Investments Limited	Tax aware level  Tax Enhanced
Objective Aims to outperform the benchmark (before fees and tax) over 3-year periods. The manager aims to achieve this by actively managing the fund. This includes changing the fund's asset allocation to reduce risk if market risk is high. As a result, there may be smaller losses than the benchmark in weak or falling markets and potentially lower returns than the benchmark in strong markets.	Investment approach The benchmark asset allocation has a strong bias to defensive assets and some exposure to growth assets. The manager actively looks for opportunities to provide better returns, or less risk, than those generated by the benchmark asset allocation and to manage the fund's exposure to the risks of investing in markets. 2. Maximum aggregate exposure to high yield assets will not exceed 50%.
3. The gearing level is the fund's borrowings divided by the total gross value of assets. It will depend on the present levels and future expectation of the fund's net income (income after fees and expenses and excluding franking credits) and the cost of borrowings. If the fund's gearing level exceeds 60% (due to withdrawals or negative market movements), the manager will reduce the gearing level to 60% (or lower) within a reasonable period of time by repaying part of the borrowings through inflows or selling some of the fund's assets.
4. Includes cash equivalents, including cash funds managed by Perpetual or other approved investments.
5. The risk level is based on the Standard Risk Measure which allows investors to compare investment options (refer to the Product Disclosure Statement for more information about the risks of investing).

The allocation guidelines showing the fund's maximum investment in international shares do not include this potential additional exposure. Underlying Australian share funds may use short positions as part of their investment strategy. Currency hedges may be used from time to time.
8. The manager may allocate up to 30% of the portfolio to other assets which may include, but is not limited to, infrastructure, mortgages (including mezzanine mortgages), private equity, opportunistic property, absolute return funds, commodities and real return strategies. Exposure to other assets aims to enhance the fund's diversification and may help reduce volatility.
